DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

VOLUME I.

SPRINGFIELD, KY., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1905.

NUMBER 49

A Parting Word With the Voter.

The official vote shows that from 1890 to, and including, 1896 the Republicans were successful in every contest made by them in this county. In 1897, however, Democracy triumphed, and at every election since that time Washington county has been found in the Democratic column. We desire to ask the calm, deliberate and thinking voter this question: Have you any reason now, or have you at any time since 1897, had any reason to regret that the Democratic party has been in charge and control of your public affairs? Is it possible for any man, no matter how strong his political convictions may be, to look over the splendid achievements of the Democratic party in Washington county for the last eight years and regret that that party has been in power? Or is possible for him to desire at this time a change in the present administration of county affairs? As stated in our last week's issue, the work of our sheriffs in Washington county for the last eight years was never excelled in the history of our county, and not surpassed by the record made by any sheriff in the Commonwealth, and it must be borne in mind that the conduct of the office of sheriff has played a conspicuous part in enabling the Democratic administration to make such a splendid showing in the management of our county affairs. In fact it would have been impossible for the county to be out of debt to-day if the sheriffs of the county had not been so prompt in collecting the revenue for the county, and in making such a vigorous fight to reduce the delinquent list.

We do not believe that our Republican friends could, or would, pitch a fight on personal grounds. Then, this being true, there must be some other reason for a desired change in the office of sheriff. If it is desirable, and for the best interest of the tax payers of the county, to elect a Republican sheriff, then why is it not also desirable and for the best interest of the county, that the Republicans should have nominated and elected a full ticket, but in convention they declined to nominate candidates for any of the many offices except county judge and sheriff.

We believe that that convention was sincere in declining to make another nomination, and in looking to the interest of the tax payers of the county we believe that that convention felt that the best interest of the county could be served by the Democratic nominees. If this is true, and the Republicans by their action in convention admit it is, then there is not much difference between their opinion and ours. They believe in all of the Democratic nominees now but one, and we believe in them and in that one also, and we know that the best result can always be obtained where there is harmony and unity in action. If seven of your county officials are to be Democrats so that if there is any failure upon the part of your administration the whole responsibility will rest where it belongs, on the Democratic party, because it will then be responsible for your county administration, and should any mistake occur there will be no possibility for either side to attempt to put the responsibility upon the other side.

Girl Captured.

Harrodsburg Herald: Last Friday, young Tom Stevens, arrayed in the gala attire of a prospective bridegroom, and driving a swift Kentucky steed, dashed up to the West Point school-house, and, like young Lachinvar, who came out of the West, got his sweetheart, Miss Neva Peller, a pupil, and before any one could hinder or prevent, they were off to Parkville. Arriving there, they purchased tickets for the train, where they intended to get married. Miss Lillie Cocanougher, the school teacher, notified the young lady's father, and he telephoned from Perryville to Junction City, where Miss Peller was captured and taken back to her father. Young Stevens, like a philosopher, swallowed his disappointment, and said as he had already bought his tickets, he would get the use of one of them anyway, and went on to Jellico. He has learned a thing or two about the eloping business, and will not be fooled next time.

Young Criminals.

Harrodsburg Herald: William Kinkead, a sixteen-year-old white boy, was sentenced Tuesday to four years in the penitentiary for breaking into and robbing the house of Mrs. Cummins in the north end of this county. He is a lad of prepossessing appearance, and owing to his tender years, Judge Bell suspended the sentence, and in a few well-chosen words of advice, sent him to the Reform school at Lexington instead of the penitentiary.

John Marshall, a sixteen-year-old colored boy, was given four years in the penitentiary. He slipped his father's pistol out of the house last summer and went to Salt river to battle with several companions. Thinking he had fired all the loads out of the pistol he snapped it at one of his companions, who fell dead pierced through the heart. Owing to his youth his sentence was also suspended, and he was sent to the Reform school.

Plans have been accepted by the Lincoln Savings Bank for the erection of a twelve-story building at Fourth avenue and Market street, Louisville, to be completed within the next eighteen months.

Birmingham, Ala., October 24. — Secretary Loeb and Secret Service Agent E. B. McAdams, of the local force, engaged in a personal difficulty this afternoon in the presence of President Roosevelt, who was the guest of the city for three hours.

The President had just got into his carriage to enter the parade, and Secretary Loeb was about to get in with him. McAdams, not knowing him, jerked him aside. Mr. Loeb delivered a blow to McAdams and McAdams replied in kind with an additional kick, where friends jumped between them and explanations were made.

That Primary Pledge Some Things Republicans Should Consider Before Asking Dem- ocrats For Support.

The following is an exact reproduction of the first two paragraphs of the original call for the primary election held in this county on August 6, 1904, at which election the present Democratic nominees were selected:

"AT A MEETING OF THE Democratic committee for Washington county, Kentucky, held at the office of T. S. Mayes, pursuant to call, on Saturday, May 28, 1904, with the following members present: T. S. Mayes, Chairman, W. B. Hatchett, W. H. Milbourne, Geo. E. Edelen, Thad. Cheatham, Thos. Graham, James Wall, B. E. Leachman, Otha Adams, R. D. Riley and Marion Cecil, all of whom were duly sworn, a primary election was called for the purpose of selecting Democratic nominees to be voted for at the November election, 1905, in Washington county, for the following offices, to-wit: County Judge, County Attorney, County Clerk, Sheriff, Jailor, Assessor, School Superintendent, Representative and Coroner, said primary to be held at the usual voting place in every precinct in Washington county, Ky., on Saturday, August 6, 1904, between the hours of 6 o'clock, a. m., 4 o'clock, p. m. ALL DEMOCRATIC YOUTHS, WHO WILL BE LEGAL VOTERS AT THE NOVEMBER ELECTION, 1905, AND ALL DEMOCRATS OF SAID COUNTY, WHO ARE LEGAL VOTERS, WHO WILL PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO SUPPORT ALL THE NOMINEES, SHALL BE THE QUALIFIED VOTERS IN SAID PRIMARY ELECTION."

By the terms of this call every man who voted in that primary election pledged himself to support the nominees. The call not only shows this pledge but the instruction sheet to the voters also contain the same words. Under this call no one but a Democratic youth, who would be old enough to vote at the election in November, 1905, and no one but a Democrat who would PLEDGE himself to support the nominees, had either a legal or moral right to vote, and every person who voted in said primary election voluntarily took upon himself a pledge to support the nominees of that primary election. A man's word should be as good as his oath or his bond and we can not see how any man who took part in that election can carefully examine himself and say that he is under no moral obligation to support the nominees of that primary. Nor can we see what right a Republican has to ask a Democrat to break this pledge.

Had the result of the primary election been different, and had the candidates who were defeated been successful, we do not believe that they, or any one of them, or their friends, or any one of their friends, would now be urging any Democrat to refuse to support the Democratic nominees, notwithstanding that these candidates were nominated by the same primary election, nor do we believe that such candidates, or their friends would even contend that the participants in that election had the right, or ought to support their Republican opponent, nor do we believe that such candidates would think it their duty to try to encourage the participants in that primary election to vote against them. Then if they would not take this course as the successful candidates they certainly can not be justified in taking this course as defeated candidates.

Death of Mr. Ensor.

Mr. J. B. Ensor, one of Washington county's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died at his home at McIntire last Sunday of Bright's disease, aged seventy-nine years. Mr. Ensor had been a sufferer for over two years, and his relatives and friends realized from the start that a cure of the disease was hopeless.

Mr. Ensor was one of the oldest, as well as one of the most devout, members of the Hardin Creek Baptist church, and in his death that church sustains a great loss. The deceased was charitable and kind, and his death is not only mourned by his immediate family, but by a host of friends who had learned to love him.

He leaves a wife and nine children, to whom friends extend sincere condolence. Mr. J. C. Ensor, of the lively firm of Ensor, Bobbitt & Brown, is a son of the deceased.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church in Springfield Monday morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. R. L. Purdom, after which interment occurred in cemetery Hill.

Nervy Tramp.

Anderson News: Mrs. Mattie Sheldene, daughter of Mr. J. A. McBrayer, Sr., was considerably surprised when she learned in this city on last Saturday that a hobo had been arrested in Frankfort and that a watch with her name in the case had been found on his person. Going to her home she made a search for a gold watch which her father had given her in 1886, but it was nowhere to be found, when she remembered that on Thursday, some one had entered the house while the family were attending the street fair in this city, and had eaten from the table in the dining room, leaving a window open and a door which she had bolted on the inside unfastened.

THE RUNAWAY.

["Woman's Home Companion."]
Oh, Johnny Jones resolved that he
No longer home should stay,
Abused by all the family.
As he had been that day.
His mother "Don't!" had said and said,
His father, mean, had rapped his head.
The cook refused him gingerbread—
And he would run away!

He'd go to war—or sail the main—
For he had just as lief.
The folks behind might cry in vain;
He'd glaze upon their grief.
But when in after years, behold,
He'd come down with fame and gold,
A general, bedecked and bold—
Or mighty pirate chief!

He stocked himself with things galore
To last him on his trip
Until he reached the seat of war,
Or got aboard his ship—
An apple and a piece of cake;
A marble, for remembrance sake;
And half decided he would take
His faithful crony, Snip.

That very night he forth would steal,
And none but he should know;
And only morning should reveal
To all the dreadful blow.
But when at tea he heard them state
That WARPLE was the breakfast cake,
He thought perhaps he'd better wait—
And thus he didn't go!

The Home of a King.

It may not be generally known in this day and time, but Bowling Green, Ky., was at one time the temporary home of Louis Philippe, sovereign
King of France, from 1830, to 1848, says the Bowling Times-Journal. At least Mr. Abbott, who writes a life of this French King, so states. The Bourbon dynasty was temporarily overthrown by a bloody French revolution in 1789, the members of that noted family of which Louis Philippe was a Prince, became exiles and he, with a younger brother, came to the United States.

After a rambling tour of portions of the country they reached Louisville,
Ky., and from there they came to Bowling Green, and from here they went to Bardonia.

The Prince had but little or no money, his great estate in France having been confiscated as a result of the French revolution, it is stated that for a livelihood he taught in the early schools of Bowling
Green and Bardonia.

When Bonaparte was overthrown by the battle of Waterloo in 1815, the Bourbons were recalled from exile, and Louis Philippe became Duc de Orleans, and head of the Orleans branch of the Bourbon family. His great estate was returned to him, and he became the wealthiest man in France, if not in Europe. In 1830 there was another bloody revolution in France, and the elder Bourbon dynasty was again overthrown, and through the instrumentality of Lafayette, America's friend, this same Louis Philippe, once an obscure resident of Bowling Green, Ky., became King of France.

Terrific Race With Death.

"Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles."
Guaranteed at C. J. Haydon's drug store, price 50c.

Off to the Pen.

A. Burton and Deputy Jack Fisher

Dug Up His Wife's Corpse.

Glasgow, Ky., October 24.—With the death of Abiah Humphreys, who lived west of Columbia, in Adair county, comes the strange story of his life for the past ten years. He had always been considered eccentric, but few except those who resided within sight of his home knew of his life. In such esteem and reverence was the old gentleman held that his actions were scarcely spoken of.

Ten years ago his wife died, and a few days after the funeral he went to the graveyard, exhumed the body and carried it to a cave on his farm. Then he began to visit the cavern two and three times a day, and finally as he grew older he cut the trips down to one visit a day, remaining sometimes for hours beside the body.

About two years ago a friend approached him on the subject, but was unable to gain any information in regard to the matter, except that he spent an hour or more each day beside the corpse of his wife, who he described as looking as natural as life. After the death of the aged husband, the advisability of removing the remains from the cave and re-burying them beside those of her faithful husband was discussed, but it has been decided to let them remain undisturbed.

And No Wonder!

Budding M. P.—That's the worst of having a reputation for being a humorist. No sooner did I stand up and open my mouth to make my speech than they all yelled with laughter—Punch.

Saved By Dynamite.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her, so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her cough, gave her sleep, and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At C. J. Haydon's drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

A Curse.

Marion Falcon: The secret ballot system of voting as conducted in Kentucky has proven a curse instead of a blessing to our people. The corrupt politicians and bootleggers have feasted on its faults, and instead of protecting the sanctity of the ballot, it has made thieves and liars out of otherwise honest men. Any honest man is neither afraid nor ashamed to let the world know how he votes, and we crave the time when we can go to the polls and have our vote cast for the candidate of our choice, and then be able to go to the record later and see that no thief has robbed us of this sacred right. Be a man or a mouse, and let your acts prove to the world what you are.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poison. Dr. Bucken's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life. Best in the world for burns and sores. 25c at C. J. Haydon's drug store.

M. G. Cope, a Paducah bank president in 1896, under indictment for embezzlement and misapplying funds, may face a jury in the United States Court next month. Insanity will be the plea of the defense.

Is the Secret Ballot Doomed?

Shelby News: Secretary of State McChesney has sent out to the County Clerks of this State, letters calling their attention to the fact that a constitutional amendment, intended to reform our voting system, is to be voted on at the November election. It is a surprising fact that many of the clerks were not aware of the fact, and very few were familiar with their duties in the case. It is therefore apparent that the people at large are not informed about this matter, and The News deems it a duty to familiarize its readers with the method. It is one of the most important matters that the voters have had to deal with for many years, and every one should carefully study the subject and vote intelligently.

After detailing the political formation of the ballot for the general election to be held on November 7, 1905, Mr. McChesney says: "To the right of the various column you will have printed on the ballot the proposed amendment to the Constitution, as set out below, in accordance with the provisions of Section 143 of the Statutes:

"Are you in favor of the following proposed Amendment to the Constitution.

"Section 147. The General Assembly shall provide by law for the registration of all persons entitled to vote in cities and towns having a population of five thousand or more; and may provide by general law for the registration of other voters in the State. Where registration is required only persons registered shall have right to vote. This mode of registration shall be prescribed by General Assembly. In all elections by persons in a representative capacity, each voter shall have a voice, and made a matter of record; and all elections by the people shall also be a voice and made a matter of record by the voters, as elections, according to the direction of the voter. The word 'election' in this section includes the decision of questions submitted to the voters, as well as the choice of officers by them. The first General Assembly held after the adoption of this amendment shall submit all necessary laws to enforce this provision."

At a glance the above proposed Amendment might be misleading, as it gives one the idea that it is a measure to provide for registration in cities and towns of 5,000 or more population. This part of the amendment is important in itself, and will commend itself to the voters in small towns and villages who do not favor the annoyance of needless registration in communities where every voter is well known.

But the vital matter of the amendment follows, when it provides that the secret ballot system shall be abolished, and the open viva voce voting shall be restored—that is, the voter goes into the voting place, tells the election officers who he votes for and watches them record it properly.

If you are in favor of the open system of voting, and a record of your vote—then vote in the square marked "Yes."

If you favor keeping the secret ballot, and turning your franchise over to election officers without recourse upon their frauds—then vote in the square marked "No."

It is your important duty to get this clearly in your mind, and to NOT FORGET to vote on the measure. A majority of the votes cast for and against the amendment will determine its fate.

Valuable Suggestions.

The Passing of the Boudoir.

Woman's growing love of athletics has been blamed for many things, and the latest charge is that it has altered in a great measure the shape of her boudoir chairs. "It is very doubtful," says one of New York's society leaders, "that the twentieth century girl will need a chair much longer than the nineteenth century girl. The generation that got straight backs from boudoirs has given place to the naturally supple girl who loafs and giffs and handles a racket and fishing rod as easily as her brother. Therefore the lounge chairs, in which one could sprawl at will, and which were formerly enjoyed by the monopoly, are part of the furniture of every girl's den and of all women's clubs. The beauty of a chair is judged now not by the degree of comfort it gives."

A Pin Tip.

It took a dozen points to fasten the ruffle to the bottom of the skirt. "It looks all right now," said the owner of the torn gown ruefully, "but the pins will all fall out before I have walked a block." "They wouldn't if you had put them in right," said the woman who knows things about pins, "and you are mending a round and round ruff of any kind never put the pins in lengthwise. They will be sure to work out if you do. Just stick them in head up and they will stay in place through miles of posturization."—New York Press.

A Reviver.

Tired body and jaded nerves may be greatly revived by change of dress. Possibly you will go home feeling unable to get through the evening before you. Disrobe, wash the face in cool water, apply a little benzoine to the skin, brush out the hair and lie down for five or ten minutes with all the muscles relaxed. Arise and rearrange the hair and dress for dinner. You will be surprised at the refreshing influence this method will have exerted.

Suede Gloves.

To clean suede gloves put the gloves on the hands and rub the tips with fuller's earth applied with a small brush. An old toothbrush or nailbrush will do very well. Some people prefer a mixture of hair oil and alcohol. Use equal parts to fuller's earth alone. White suede gloves are best cleaned with dry pipe clay.

Spots on the Nails.

White spots on the nails are caused by a stoppage of the flow of the nutrient juices. A paste made of equal parts of refined pitch or of turpentine and myrrh, melted and mixed together and spread on the nails at night, will remove them. A little olive oil will remove the paste in the morning.

Exhausted Bath-tubs.

The enamel of the bath will be kept in good condition if when a hot bath is required a little much green stuff as they will eat. For ordinary use lettuce and cabbage leaves will be found very suitable and may be given either whole or cut up. If the water is too hot, the leaves will not be able to pull them apart, as they will do when the leaves are given in a whole state.

Grill is required by ducks just the same as other fowls. Flint should be given all the year round, and oyster shell during the laying season. The grill may be obtained by placing water or placed in a small trough filled with water. If given dry, as to fowls, the ducks drip it about a good deal.

Sleeves made of rubber sheeting with elastic at wrist and elbow are convenient to slip on when washing the dishes if one is dressed for the afternoon.

Never use a tin mold for lemon or acid jelly, as the action of the acid on the metal is liable to spoil the flavor of the jelly.

Always heat new iron, such as ranges, very gradually at first, so that it will prevent cracking.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From "Napier New Zealand Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poison. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had, and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds and whooping cough. The remedy is for sale by C. J. Haydon.

THE JEWELER.

DUCK FEEDING.

Where ducks are kept with a view of remuneration their feeding requires careful study, since upon the food bill much of what should be profit must easily be wasted, says the Leiston (Me.) Journal. One of the first points to bear in mind is that feeding should never be done mechanically, for both the birds and the weather must be carefully watched, and quantity and quality regulated thereby. To supply exactly the same quantity and quality of food per head all the year round, no matter how the seasons may be balanced, is not a plan to commend, nor is it a profitable one either as regards the pocket or the welfare of the stock.

During summer, when the weather is warm and showery and there is consequently an abundance of natural food, ducks at liberty require very little food to be given to them. Again, when the birds are trying to require more food than at other times—that is, when weather conditions balance, which is a factor that must be taken into consideration. The least food is required during warm, showery weather, and the most is required when the ground is covered with snow and water surfaces are frozen, because then practically nothing can be picked up.

Very many mixtures of food are advocated for duck feeding, and this is to be avoided by the beginner. A good mixture, to begin with, is ground oats and shorts in equal quantities, to which are added a little bluest meal and pressed or granulated meat. It should be prepared with boiling water and served before quite cold and made crumbly, not sloppy.

Ducks that have not access to grass require a much green stuff as they will eat. For ordinary use lettuce and cabbage leaves will be found very suitable and may be given either whole or cut up. If the water is too hot, the leaves will not be able to pull them apart, as they will do when the leaves are given in a whole state.

Grill is required by ducks just the same as other fowls. Flint should be given all the year round, and oyster shell during the laying season. The grill may be obtained by placing water or placed in a small trough filled with water. If given dry, as to fowls, the ducks drip it about a good deal.

Fowls Need Pure Water.

A frequent cause of cholera in the poultry yard is stagnant and impure water. This, as a matter of fact, cannot be too carefully guarded against. The best of water after standing for any length of time in hot weather becomes covered with a greenish scum and soon minute bacteria will be floating around in it. This stage reached, the liquid instead of being a wholesome beverage is a positive poison. It makes no difference whether the water has been standing in a drinking fountain or in a stagnant pool. Either is bad enough to poison the birds. The demand is usually much greater than their thirst at the pools that often drain from manure piles, which is frequently done by them on the farm; therefore such places, if accessible to fowls, should be covered with straw or drained away to some other spot. Given fresh, clean water often enough, however, poultry will seldom touch impure liquids.

Profit in Turkeys.

There are about 4,500,000 turkeys produced each year in the United States, and the price ranges from 12 to 20 cents a pound at wholesale. The demand is usually much greater than the supply. As turkeys can be produced at a maximum cost of 8 cents a pound, there is no reason why they should be raised extensively. There is no flesh on the farm that will show a greater profit. Farmers living in the vicinity of towns can readily dispose of their turkeys to private customers at retail prices and need not depend on shippers or middlemen at all. As in all stock breeding, the greatest profit is from disposing of the fatted product as early as possible. For this reason and because the birds fatten more readily in warm than in very cold weather, the greatest profit comes from marketing at Thanksgiving.—Cor. American Cultivator.

Election next Tuesday.

Polls open at 6 o'clock.

Polls close at 4 o'clock.

Democrats, go to the polls next Tuesday; take a voter with you.

The open ballot will do away with ballot-box-stuffing.

Under the open ballot your vote becomes "a matter of record;" under the secret ballot it is "hid away" for six months and then destroyed.

THE OPEN BALLOT.

In our opinion the open ballot is the best. We believe that it will guarantee fairer elections. However, some of the clauses of the law governing the secret ballot are good, and, if the open ballot should again be established in Kentucky, many of the regulations governing the election under the secret ballot will be embodied in the law. For example, ropes will be stretched around the voting place, and but one voter at a time will be admitted. Certainly there can be no more fraud practiced under the open ballot than there now is under the secret ballot. Vote buying under the secret ballot has been conducted with an appalling success since the first election held under that ballot in 1888. A thousand and one schemes have been devised and put into practice, any one of which enables the "buyer" to tell whether or not the "bought" has delivered the goods. Those who would defend the secret ballot because they believe that under it votes can not be bought are laboring under a mistake. Watch the maneuvers of the wardheeler on election day and you will be convinced that he "knows his business." There is one thing absolutely certain, he is not going to pay his money out if the "spot don't hit" or the "signs ain't right." Don't ask "how it is done;" maybe the little birds tell the heeler.

Under the open ballot we would have no ballot-box stuffing; every vote cast would be counted; no ballots would be marked "spoiled," and the little black "X" on the end of the thumb would be put out of business. Under the open ballot you could go behind the returns every twenty minutes if you wanted to, and that, too, without a decree of court. Your vote won't be locked up in

Mr. Bryan's Advice.

The Commoner: The fine old republican newspaper, the Chicago Tribune, says: "Mr. Bryan can give more advice and see less of it followed, than any other man now before the public."

It is not necessarily a reflection upon a man that his advice is not followed; but Mr. Bryan cannot complain on that score just now; and certainly the Chicago Tribune is not justified in a boast.

Mr. Bryan has lived to see many of the policies he favored warmly advocated by those who, a few years ago, as warmly opposed them.

Mr. Bryan has advised the election of senators by the people, and to-day men of all parties are committed to that plan.

He has advised arbitration in the settlement of labor difficulties, and in one notable instance the gentleman elected to the office of president as a republican rendered distinguished service to his countrymen by acting upon that plan.

He has advised that the free pass is a great and growing evil, and to-day men of all political parties condemn the free pass system.

He has advised that public sentiment set itself rigidly against contributions by corporations, and to-day that question occupies a conspicuous place in the attention of the American people.

He has advised that the quantitative theory of money is correct; and this, the foundation of all arguments made in behalf of bimetalism is now conceded by the very man who vigorously condemned it in 1896.

He has urged the enforcement of the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law, and after many years of waiting the government's law officers, acting under the president's instructions, caused the arrest and prosecution of the members of the beef trust.

He has urged the enactment of stringent laws providing for publicity in the affairs of corporations, and the president, elected as a republican, has had much to say in advocacy of that method.

He has advised that corporations be required to show clean hands before being permitted to do business outside of the state of their origin, and that before such corporations could engage in interstate business they be required to obtain a federal license. The republican administration is now squarely on record in favor of that plan.

He has urged that tariff laws be amended by putting the products of trusts upon the free list in order to prevent monopoly under the plea of protection; and a considerable number of distinguished republicans are to-day publicly advocating that plan, while the rank and file of the party, if permitted to speak, would unquestionably give their sanction to it.

He has advised the enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission to the end that individuals and communities might be protected from discriminations and from unjust transportation rates; and to-day that is the most conspicuous reform for which the president, elected as a republican, stands.

Republican editors tread on dangerous ground when, in the light of present-day happenings, they undertake to call Mr. Bryan to account for the character of "advice" he has given.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 7th 1901.

Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis, Mo.--Dear Sir: I suffered ten years with severe kidney and bladder trouble, and at times was unable to work. I was advised to try your Texas Wonder, and after using one-fourth of one bottle, I passed a large gravel, and I have never suffered since passing the same, three years ago. I have recommended it to many others, who reported themselves cured. I must heartily recommend it to all sufferers from kidney or bladder diseases. SAM DEAN.

One small bottle of the Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame backs, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women, regulates bladder trouble in children. If not sold by your druggist, it will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two months treatment and seldom fails to perfect a cure.

Dr. E. W. Hall, Sole Manufacturer, P. O. Box 629, St. Louis, Mo. Send for testimonial. Sold by all druggists.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Citizens of Washington County.
Having been solicited by many of my friends, both Democrats and Republicans, and having been nominated by the Republican party for the office of Sheriff of Washington County, I am pleased to accept the trust imposed on me, and, if elected, to give to the whole people faithful, efficient, impartial service. I earnestly request your support.

Have you thought about a lock for the coal house door?

The only way a pumpkin pie can be made better is by making it bigger.

Rev. W. H. Williams will assist Rev. R. L. Pardon in a meeting at Bethlehem, commencing next Monday morning.

OLD OPEN BALLOT.—If you want to vote for the old open ballot stamp in the square to the right of the word "yes."

"Will you take a load of wood on subscription?" writes a friend. Yes! Anything that can be "et, wore or burnt."

BOOM YOUR TOWN.—Don't say anything mean about your town. Boom it! The town is usually much better than the people who talk about it.

P. P. P.—Pumpkins, Persimmons and "Possom! A glorious season. And if a fellow can't be pleased with all of these delicacies he ought to move out of the county.

Take a look at Mrs. Hertlein's Halloween window. It is another one of those appropriate and pretty windows in which Mrs. Hertlein displays her good taste as a decorator.

MARRIED.—Mr. Felix Ambrose Hagan, of Fredericktown, and Mrs. Mary Brown, of Bardstown, were married at St. Joseph's church, at Bardstown, yesterday. Father O'Connell officiating.

The Harrodsburg Herald says the jury in the Herron-Britton murder case was composed of highly substantial citizens. A father and son served on it, they being Squire W. L. Masie and his youngest boy.

A SCARCITY OF BIRDS.—We have been informed by quite a number of people that the partridge crop is a little short this season. In some communities, though, it is said there are quite a number of nice flocks, but they will be "protected" by "land posted."

MUST RE-SOW.—The Danville News says that many farmers in Boyle and adjoining counties have found it necessary to re-sow much of the wheat crop, due to an inferior quality being sown. It is claimed the grain was damaged during the recent wet harvest season.

GOOD MINSTRELS.—A large crowd witnessed the Barlow & Wilson Minstrel at the opera house last Friday evening. The Company is unusually strong this season and those who attended Friday evening were well pleased with the performance.

OPEN GRATES.—Look to your open grates. We are entering upon a "season of fires," and the little one's dress may become ignited. It is just as important—if not more so—to screen your fire in the winter as it is to screen your windows in the summer.

CATTLE AND MULES.—Messrs. J. F. and W. F. Simms sold thirty-six head of very fine mules to Hudson Brothers, of Louisville, last week, at $157 a head. They also sold to Monta Fox, of Danville, thirty head of cattle at $3.80. B. F. and J. F. Simms sold to Gentry Brothers, twenty-three head of cattle. Mr. Watt O'Bryan sold to Monta Fox, twenty-five head of mules at $164.

WILD GESE.—One night last week the wild geese "buted in," and for quite a while the night was hideous with their "quacks." The street lights seemed to be the attraction, and some of the sports claim to have seen "the white breasts just above the arc lights."

SOLD STABLE.—Hayden & Thompson have sold their lively stable business at this place to Mr. C. M. Tenney, of Mackville. Possession will be given the first of December.

HUNTING SEASON.—The sportsmen are impatiently awaiting the coming of the glad day when the "strong arm of law" will cease to be a barrier, and when they can go forth into the fields and into the woodlands, to listen for the flutter! flutter! of the partridge as he wings his flight amid scattering shot. There will be lots of fun in the "rise and fall" of the quail.

NICE FARM.—Mr. Luther Burns, who bought the Gibbins farm, has already been offered a nice profit, but declined. He paid $37 an acre for the land, and it is said he bought it at a bargain. There are few men in Washington county who are better judges of land than Luther Burns, and, by the way, there are few more successful subscribers to "The Sunday Law." Mr. Buchanan also delivered a short talk upon "The Art of Cooking." Mr. M. L. Searcy was called upon for a speech, but was too busy passing duck to Mr. Lewis, to respond. Capt. Wright when called upon declined, but gave out the information that he was going to "quit the cans" and start a duck farm some time in the future. B. D. Lake couldn't spare the time to make a speech. Judge Noe, Walter Riedel, Irvine McElroy, Jas. McCabe and J. R. Gore were present for the sole purpose of applauding and eating, therefore did not speak.

LOST.—On last Friday, October 27, I lost four art pictures. The names of them were "Saved," "Anxious Moments," "Home, Sweet Home" and "Sweetheart." Inside was an envelope containing subscription blanks. S. D. Royalty's name printed on back of envelope. They were lost between Pulliam and Hillsboro church. Please send any information to Miss NANNIE ROYALTY, R. F. D. No. 1, box 15, Williamsburg, Ky.

The Louisville Times of October 25, says: Katherine Taylor, two years of age, died at the family residence, 2466 Amber street. She was the daughter of the Rev. J. A. Taylor, pastor of the Parkland Baptist church. The remains were taken to Eminence, Ky., this morning for burial.

Rev. Taylor recently conducted a meeting at the Baptist church at this place, and while here many friends who will regret to hear of his sad misfortune.

CLOTHING ON FIRE.—Last Wednesday about noon a little child of Assessor Tom O'Bryan came near meeting with a fatal accident. While at play in front of an open grate its clothing became ignited. There was no one in the room at the time except the child and its grandmother, and before Mrs. O'Bryan could reach the little one it ran into another room. Its screams attracted the attention of a colored woman who was in the kitchen, and who reached the child in time to strip of its clothing before any serious burns resulted.

BOTH ARMS BROKEN.—Last Thursday afternoon Dudley Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Robertson, fell from the stable loft, sustaining fractures of both arms. He was in the loft putting hay in the rack, and when he had finished stepped backward, not knowing that he was so close to the opening, and fell to the floor below, sustaining, as stated above, fractures of both arms. He was taken to the hospital, and the doctor informed his mother that he had broken both arms. This fact shows that Dudley, though only twelve years old, possesses a wonderful nerve, and did not play the "fainting act" as lots of us who are much older very likely would have "done to a queen's taste." He is suffering very much at present, but is standing it like a little man. It won't be a great while until he is well and out throwing rocks at rabbits.

HE'S NOT FROM KANSAS.—In the last issue of The Sun, in a personal mention of Mr. Lee L. McElroy's visit to his parents at this place, we stated that he was from Kansas. Mr. McElroy writes a letter to The Sun, entering a protest against this statement, and wants it distinctly understood that he hales from the grand old State of Missouri. He doesn't want it given out that he is "among Jayhawkers," in a land of mixed schools, Carrie Nations and grasshoppers. He says he will forgive us this time, but wants us to be careful not to place him next time. Mr. McElroy has charge of the Jackson Lithia Spring, with headquarters in Kansas City. The water from this spring is becoming famous throughout the country, and is being used by many of the best physicians with marvelous success in the treatment of Bright's disease, rheumatism and hundreds of other diseases.

A DUCK SUPPER.—Mr. Conrad Hertlein invited a number of his friends to attend a duck supper at his confectionery on last Saturday evening, and it can be truthfully said that all present were de-lighted, and "participated to the FULLEST extent." There were just thirteen at the table, and this caused quite an animated discussion as to the probability of fatalities, misfortunes, etc., etc., but the Hon. John W. Lewis assured the crowd that he had never known of calamities coming from "13" when "that 13" surrounded a big fat duck; and thus the superstitions of all, except in the case of Chief of Police John Grace, were in a manner dispelled. Chief Grace said that he had never seen a baked duck surrounded by 13 "aching voids," therefore, could not vouch for the "safety and happiness" of the party; but that he knew it to be very dangerous for as many as 13 persons to engage in a game of craps. Nevertheless, the duck, together with quite a number of other most excellent dishes, was devoured. Indeed, there are few women—from the lakes to the gulf, and from ocean to ocean—who are more gifted in the art of preparing tempting dishes than Mrs. Hertlein. She knows now, and that's where the secret comes in, "After dinner speeches" were delivered by Mr. Lewis, Mr. Grigsby and Mr. Hertlein. Mr. Lewis spoke on "The Magnificence of the Duck, and the amount that can be eaten with safety." Mr. Grigsby's theme was, "There's Nothing Like It," while Mr. Hertlein very ably discussed "The Sunday Law." Mr. Buchanan also delivered a short talk upon "The Art of Cooking." Mr. M. L. Searcy was called upon for a speech, but was too busy passing duck to Mr. Lewis, to respond. Capt. Wright when called upon declined, but gave out the information that he was going to "quit the cans" and start a duck farm some time in the future. B. D. Lake couldn't spare the time to make a speech. Judge Noe, Walter Riedel, Irvine McElroy, Jas. McCabe and J. R. Gore were present for the sole purpose of applauding and eating, therefore did not speak.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

LEWIS-MANGET.

OCT. 28, 1905.

The marriage of Miss Mary Avritt Lewis, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. John W. Lewis, to Mr. Fred Manget, of Louisville, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday, October 28, at high noon. In a simple and impressive ceremony, the Rev. T. D. Latimer, of the Presbyterian church, united the young couple. Miss Annie Long, of Louisville, was maid of honor, and Mr. Hite Huffaker acted as best man. Misses Elizabeth McElroy and Lucy Lemon were ribbon girls. The home had been beautifully arranged in the color scheme of green and white, being decorated with Southern smilax and white chrysanthemums. The bride, who never looked more beautiful, wearing an elegant Princess gown of soft white satin fringed with point lace, was escorted to the altar by her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The maid of honor, Miss Long, wore a handsome dress of lavender silk, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, fringed with bridal roses. After the ceremony, during which Messdames J. C. McElroy and H. R. Thompson sang "Call Me Thine Own," a delicious five-course breakfast was served the wedding guests. The bride's table was graced with a work of art at each plate were bulbs filled with rice to be showered on groom and bride; a wax taper stood at each plate, and as it burned out each guest delivered appropriate toasts; streamers of ribbon surrounded the wedding cake, to each of which was attached some token of the dreamer's future. The bride and groom, after the ceremony and congratulations to southern points. The bridal party, consisting of the bride and groom, maid of honor and best man, and Misses Wallace Rippey and Medelaine Johnson, of Lawrenceburg; Messrs. Bruce Huffaker and Mazack O'Brien, of Louisville; Mr. Candie, of St. Louis, and Mr. Winchester Phillips, of Lebanon, were driven to Lebanon in an antique stage coach and four, which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents, chief of which was a magnificent chest of silver from her parents. The out-of-town guests were Judge and Mrs. Sam. Avritt and Misses Lucy and Mary Lemon, of Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Seavey and Mrs. Geo. B. Exall, of Lebanon. A number of the immediate local friends of the family were present. The bride was one of Springfield's most charming and accomplished young ladies. The groom is one of Louisville's rising young business men, and a happy future is hop'3 for them. They will make their future home in Louisville, where a wide circle of friends will welcome them. May they live long to enjoy the happiness that will be theirs.

LOST.—A small gold watch, between the old toll-house, on the Springfield and Bardstown pike and Springfield. Has name, "Miss Annie Cooper" in the back. Return to Sun office and receive reward.

A Living Monument.

If we were to assemble all of those who have been cured of heart disease by Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and who would to-day be in their graves had not Dr. Miles' been successful in perfecting this wonderful heart specific, they would populate a large city.

What a remarkable record—a breathing, thinking, moving monument, composed of human lives—that for which every other earthly possession is sacrificed.

The Miles Medical Co. receive thousands of letters from these people like the following:

"I feel indebted to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure for my life. I feel to call the attention of others suffering as I did to this remarkable remedy for the heart. For a long time I had suffered from attacks of breath after any little exertion, palpitation of the heart; at times terrible pain in the region of the heart, so serious that I feared I would never live again. I had upon the street. One day I read one of your circulars, and immediately went to my drugstore and purchased two bottles of the Heart Cure. I took it according to directions, with the result that I am cured. I feel now that I never miss an opportunity to recommend this remedy to those who have heart trouble. In fact I am having advertisements for I am widely known in this locality."

DO YOU OFTEN LAUGH?

If You Do Not, You Are Making a Grave Mistake.

Don't forget to laugh. Laugh when you are happy; laugh when you are amused; laugh at yourself for being bored. There is always something to laugh at, and even when one is reduced to laughing at oneself that is very much better than being "glum."

This is what laughter does for a woman: It keeps her heart young; it makes her like people for the sake of the pleasure they give her; and they in turn like her; it makes her steps buoyant; it keeps her eyes bright; it keeps her face from wrinkling; it is a beautiful second to no other one; it does for the muscles of the face what exercise does for those of the body—keeps them supple and prevents them from falling into those stiff and settled lines which mean old age.

There is no situation in life, except, of course, the inevitable tragic moments, that may not be bettered by laughter. It is hard to burlesque one's griefs and annoyances, but it can be done, and it is worth doing. To convey one's emotions and to make a mockery of one's annoyances may not seem to be the highest form of philosophy, but it is not so low a one as to fret over trials and grow pessimistic over personal woes.

STUDY YOUR CHILDREN.

If They Are Irritable, Find Out and Remedy the Cause.

"The idea that thin persons are more irritable than fat ones has some foundation in fact," said an old physician, "but the thinness is generally due to the irritability, and not vice versa. The great mistake is in supposing that a querulous disposition is natural and inherited. The peevish and fretful child could be brought up to an amiable and well-tempered maturity if its needs were understood and attended to. It does not whimper from sheer perversity. More than half the bad temper in the world is due to neglect of this kind. The child's disposition is warped in infancy and it grows up with a twist in its temper and a disposition to look at the black side of things. Instead of growing plump and rosy, the continual irritation keeps it thin, pale and 'spinny.' Now, this is a matter of special importance to women, because, with their finer organization, fretting and worrying have a far more destructive effect than in the case of men. They spoil their good looks, dissipate their vitality and become 'scraggy.' Mothers who have fretful children should use every effort to find the remedy, especially when the children are girls."

DON'TS FOR MOTHERS.

Don't entertain all your friends with a detailed account of your children's marvellous sayings and doings.

Don't permit a fear to be implanted in your child. Bawl summarily at those who would dare implant it.

Don't delude yourself with the idea that at six months baby cannot understand the difference between your "yes" and "no."

Don't fret your children by perpetually worrying about them. They must have some common sense; teach them to make use of it.

Don't treat your son and your daughter at twenty as you would have treated them at twelve; remember that they are now a man and a woman.

Don't forget that the fire of curiosity may be smothered, but not easily extinguished, and that some one else will surely be called upon to explain if you do not.

Business and Hearts.

Well, indeed, if over the door through which girls enter the business world should be written these words, "Leave hearts behind all ye who enter here," for hearts in business are superfluous. Business is a matter of two and two making four and nothing over. In the commercial world, where we go to make money, there should be no time or inclination for sentiment. In the realm of loveliness and phone, desk and typewriter, emotionality is not of place; not only out of place, but a distinctly unwelcome and bothersome invader. Girls should realize this time when they do for their own sakes as well as their employers. Woman Cor. in Philadelphia Telegraph.

Relaxation.

If only women could relax they would rest more in ten minutes than in hours of so called resting with tense muscles. Often after lying down for an hour a woman will get up saying that she feels more tired than before. No wonder: her muscles were unrelaxed. Rest without relaxation is impossible. Let the back, neck or chin rest the whole weight of the body. Imagine that you have not the power to lift a limb. Loosen the tension both of mind and body, and in a short time you will feel renewed strength.

Knives in the Kitchen.

It is now quite the thing for good housekeepers to have a special knife for every use in the kitchen, and two very useful knives are the delicatessen knife and the pastry knife. The delicatessen knife for imported sausages and cold meats that have no bones in them and this saw and will slice much more evenly than a broad knife, and the pastry knife is quite flexible and thin and has a curved blade.

A Harmless Shampoo.

When washing the hair is necessary, harmless shampoos should be chosen. The simplest which can always be made is to mix a cake of soap in a quart of boiling water. Put it into a wide mouth jar and use about two tablespoonfuls at a time. Massage well into the scalp.

PACKING GIFTS.

How Christmas Presents May Be Wrapped Up Attractively.

Even the most long wished for or the most charming gift is robbed of some of its joyous Christmas spirit if it is sent "crudely wrapped" or is done up like an ordinary everyday parcel, and even the most simple gift receives an added grace if it is put up attractively and is accompanied by a bright, pleasant greeting.

The Christmas gifts may be given a festive appearance at a very small outlay of time and money by wrapping them in scarlet or white paper and tying them with scarlet ribbon, fastening a sprig of holly in the bows, says a writer in What to Do. The effect will be so cheery and Christmas-like that manila paper and twine will never be thought of again.

Little boxes, such as jewelers' boxes, wrap up in white paper; candy or similar shaped boxes in two papers, the inner one white, the outer one scarlet. Gaskets the ends on top, clip into points and fill out. Wrap books in scarlet paper, pin cushions or other fancy work in white, bundles in scarlet and white, and scarlet, tying at the ends with ribbon. Umbrellas and canes wind with strips of white and scarlet paper, transforming them into tin horned candy canes.

In doing up china sets for the bureau or desk, or optical or tete-a-tete, wrap the pieces in scarlet paper, gather up on top and tie. Then clip into polka-dot blossoms. Wrap the tray or plate in green paper and tie the blossoms on with ribbon. Cards the size of a visiting card may be bought as cheap as a penny apiece. More expensive cards may of course be purchased if one's purse holds out. A very pretty card has a border of holly or colors, with a blank space to write or letter the Christmas wish upon. This may be the usual greeting or a quotation. Any of the following lines are pleasant wishes to send with a gift:

Yule logs of love burn in the heart
With rosy warmth and cheer,
And care-well may she come at most
Like Christmas, once a year.

A happy Christmas to you.
May I bring you all fair things
With the sweetest remembrance
That about its coming clings.

Sunbeams bless thy Christmas day—
Gladness with thee dwell for aye.
A better gift you may have, but not
With better heart.

Our true intent is all for your delight.

How to Illuminate the Tree.

The illumination of the tree is an important problem, for by the indiscriminate use of candles many a joyous Christmas has been turned into one of mourning. The Japanese lanterns are much safer than unshielded candles, and they give a prettier effect. The small square lanterns with colored mica sides are also safe for they have a sponge in the bottom that may be saturated with kerosene. When the light is lighted it burns brightly and lasts longer than ordinary wax candles.

How to Make a Novel Pin cushion.

Men are often glad of a pin cushion to hang up in their rooms, provided only that it is not too feminine in appearance. A very novel pin cushion can be made of a pipe case, which should be new and fresh looking and which it is often possible to obtain for nothing from a lighter or a friend. Make a cushion exactly to fit the hollow which held the pipe or a little larger, as it must be well pushed into the case, the hollow being covered beforehand with glue. The cushion should be stuffed with sawdust or anything soft and covered with some pretty velvet or silk, the color being carefully chosen to match or contrast with the case. A pale blue or fern color looks well, as a rule. Of course the pipe case may be double, being open, and one side can, if desired, be left as it is or utilized as a cushion for needles. A ribbon bow of color to match must be added at the top to hang it up like a ball.

How to Prepare Turkey Salad.

For the supper table Christmas night chicken or turkey salad in a cranberry mold is delicious. Make the cranberry jelly and mold in a ring. Turn out very carefully just before serving and fill the center with the salad. Turkey salad, by the way, is as good as, if not better, than chicken salad when mixed with plenty of celery and a few walnut meats.

How to Make Imitation Snowballs.

A Christmas tree decoration that is easily and inexpensively made at home is snowballs. A coil of fine picture wire, a box of disintegrated paper and a bundle of cotton batting (not sheet wadding) are the materials needed. The wire is cut in various short lengths, a wad of the cotton thrust upon it, putted into shape to look like a ball, and the powder dusted over it from a perforated toilet powder box. The other end of the wire is bent over to form a fastening, and the ball is ready for the tree. It is effective to have the balls vary in size from that of a small apple to a large orange.

How to Roast Lamb With Chestnuts.

Season the meat with salt and pepper and roast it on a hot plate, garnish with parsley, pinolins and French chestnuts boiled until tender. Shell and blanch the nuts and brown in the gravy from the lamb. This is a very decorative dish for one so plain as roast lamb.

How to Serve the Christmas Pudding.

Turn the last pudding out on a heated platter and in the top stick a sprig of holly. Dip one-half dozen lights of sugar in red rosin and place around the base of the pudding. Touch a lighted match to each lump, carry quickly to the table and place before the hostess.

WASHINGTON COUNTY BUSINESS DIRECTORY

WHEN YOU WANT TO MAKE A PURCHASE, MAKE IT AT HOME; when you want to have a job of work done, have it done at home. If you go away from home to buy, or if you go away from home to have work done, nine times out of ten you hurt yourself worse than you do the home merchant or the home mechanic. At home you can see the goods you buy and will not take the goods you buy to you; he has known you for years, he is your friend, he doesn't want to cheat you, he doesn't want your money for nothing. If you have ever bought anything from a mail-order house you doubtless you can remember of having been treated differently. Their propositions are always in print, but don't "come up." Pay your money "out" at home and it may "come back" again, but send it to one of the big mail-order houses and it will buy 25-cent cigars for some millions in a European house. The Sun begs to call the attention of its subscribers to the following businesses, conducted in Springfield and Washington county by honest and honorable men. When you want to make a purchase look over this list and select your store. You will be tickled when you compare your purchase with that of the man who bought from the big mail-order house. TRY YOUR HOME MERCHANT FIRST; THAT WILL BE TREATING HIM FAIR.

As a Plain Matter of Business Can You Afford

.....

Would You Discharge Him?

(From The Sun of Oct. 18)

"If you had in your employ a collector who had, in a few years, collected enough of your outstanding accounts to pay off a mammoth indebtedness for you--say, over $60,000--could you be induced to discharge him and employ a 'new hand at the business,' unless the old employe had been guilty of some flagrant breach of duty? Suppose some fellow-should come to you and ask that you discharge your collector and put in his place another man, what would you think of such a proposition? Certainly you would think it an absurd one. That is just what the Republican party of Washington county is asking the people to do when it asks them to vote for its nominees for sheriff."

CLOAKS FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN.

Old Birds as Breeders.

Health, vigor and long life are important elements to develop in any strain of fowls, and the use of old birds as breeders, in which these elements are to be found, is to be urged, as such qualities count for much in the development of the qualities of color of plumage, as they cannot be produced in their best form by any but birds in the best of health and of vigorous constitution. These elements are of value in all branches of poultry culture, as such birds are better layers and better table fowls than those of lesser vigor and health. A weak bird never possesses the life and brilliancy of plumage possessed by birds of good health and vigor, nor can it give to its progeny a vigor that it itself does not possess.—Poultry Herald.

Poultry on the Farm.

It has been proved time after time that the farmer is the man that can raise the chickens that will produce the eggs and at a less expense than any person that does not produce his own feed, writes O. F. Hawes in National Stockman. He has the advantage of a free range, and if he will go to the expense of some of the fencing that the specialist has to do to control them he can make Biddy pay her way well, and if he does not he had better let her and let some one else will. No man can make a success out of any business and not put his hand and good will to the work.

No Compulsion.
"You sign this deed at your own free will, do you, madam?" asked the lawyer.

"What do you mean by that?" demanded the large, red-faced woman.
"I mean there has been no compulsion on the part of your husband, has there?"
"Him?" she ejaculated, turning to look at the meek little man sitting behind her. "I'd like to see him try to compel me!"—Tit-Bits.

Her Misfortune.
Little Bessie, the youngest member of the family, watched the elder children set off to attend a birthday party one evening, while she, as usual, was compelled to remain behind. Presently her mother's attention was attracted by a doleful little sigh.
"Oh, dear, mamma!" mourned the tot, "don't you think I was dreadful unfortunate to be born so young?"—Judge.

Symphony in a Flat.
To be a singer was her aim.
"Poppy, sing to me all that!"
She failed, but was not to blame,
Because she lived in a flat.
—Cincinnati Enquirer.

INSULT TO INJURY.

Tommy—Pa, look out of the window. Quick!

"You boys are a confounded nuisance. What d'yer want?"
Tommy—Young Bertie Jones wouldn't believe you'd got no hair on the top of your head, dad!

Those Elusive Ribbons.
The girls are all in white to-day.
While is their sister absent?
But as you comeer look, well say
"They're pink and blue beneath."
—The Sun.

Proof Positive.
Nurdy—"What's the matter, old man?"
Biff—"It's all off. My girl doesn't care for me."

Nurdy—Oh, shucks, you just imagine that.
Butts—No, I don't. I went into the parlor unexpectedly last Sunday evening and found her setting the clock an hour ahead.—Courier-Journal.

Getting Specific.
Biffery—When you and your wife were first married, you used to call each other "birds," didn't you?
McSwat—Yes.

Biffery—Do you still do it?
McSwat—Well, I call her a parrot and a magpie, and she usually refers to me as a jay.—Cleveland Leader.

A Sure Winner.
Mrs. Uperton—I understand your daughter was graduated recently. Did she carry off the honors?

Mrs. Neurich—Well, I guess yes. She wore the sweetest gown of any girl in the class. It cost her pay $30 in cold cash.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Immune.
"You are going to become connected with the English nobility," said the peeress, looking carefully into the caloused palm.

"Wrong again!" replied Mr. Bigwail. "My only daughter is already married."—Houston Post.

Investive Idiot.
"Biffery is in a business now where he can freely exercise his remarkable inventive faculties."

"Good. What's the business?"
"He thinks up idiotic practical jokes to play on newly-married people."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ma Twaddles.
"I aim to be at the head of my own household," said Pa Twaddles. "I would scorn to let my wife do my thinking for me."

"I should think you would," snapped Ma Twaddles. "There isn't enough of it to occupy an active woman's time!"—Cleveland Leader.

Ever Notice It?
"Society women," remarked the fussy old bachelor, "are like salads."
"What's the answer?" queried the very young man.

"A great deal depends upon the dressing," explained the f. o. b.—Chicago News.

Facetious.
"Tomkyns is delighted with the new apartment house he moved into, that spring. He is going to marry a girl on the floor below."
"Marrying beneath him, eh? Poor old Tomkyns."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Doctor's Threat.
"Very well, sir," said Dr. Quack, after his quarrel with the undertaker, "I'll make you sorry for this!"
"What are you going to do?" asked the undertaker, "retire from practice?"—Tit-Bits.

The Reason Why.
Sunday School Teacher—Why do not ladies take off their hats in church?
Tommy—Because they'd take too long putting them on again when they was comin' out.—Ally Sloper.

Under Obligations.
Dyer—Clothes make the man.
Shortleigh—That's so. We owe a great deal to our tailors.—Judge.

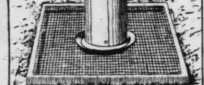

Device For Watering Ducklings.
A watering device used in the brooder pens of a large duck farm in Illinois is described by P. T. Wood in Reliable Poultry Journal.

A wooden frame about eighteen inches square, to which is fastened a piece of one-quarter inch mesh galvanized wire cloth, is placed over a hole dug in the earth of each indoor run or pen in the brooder house. The hole is dug about eighteen inches to two feet deep to insure good drainage. On this wire screen the galvanized iron drinking fountains are placed, so that all water slopped by the ducklings is quickly drained away and the pens are kept dry. One gallon founts are used with pans deep enough to permit the ducklings to immerse their bills above the nostrils—an important matter from a health standpoint. This plan for water vessels in nursery brooders for ducks is well worth the attention of all duck men.

Profit In Goose.
If one has a low, marshy meadow bordering on a stream he cannot find a way to make it more profitable than by turning a flock of good geese loose to graze on it, says M. P. Delano in American Agriculturist. The Toulouse is most popular, with the Embden as the second. The former is gray, laced with white on back and breast, solid gray heads and necks and white underneath. It is a big, low, firm set goose and an invaluable variety. My choice is the Embden. Its pure white plumage, orange bill and legs and clear, bright blue eyes make a very attractive combination of colors.

The African is a good goose and, it is claimed, will lay more eggs than does the Toulouse or the Embden. The China varieties, white and brown, are somewhat smaller, but of a good size for market, and extremely productive. They are profitable geese to keep.

FOUNTAIN FOR DUCKLINGS.

Lazy Pores.
Laziness is an evil that breeds trouble and disease. Lazy men never look bright, cheerful or healthy, lazy people do not exercise; they do not exert their powers for warding off disease. Hence they become stagnant and useless. In the same way the pores of your skin become clogged and lazy. They lose their activity; they do not perform their regular duties. As a result you have skin troubles, aggravating, annoying, itching and burning skin, blackheads, pimples, etc. The pores of your skin need waking up. They are lazy; they need action. The most effective means of producing the necessary activity is to use freely twice a day the new product, Paracram. When you apply Paracram, it immediately opens the pores, penetrates directly to the bottom of the same, going even into the muscles, drawing out all disease germs, dirt, obstructions and inflammation, by inducing a healthy copious perspiration. It washes out the pores and feeds the interior cells, which furnish the oils necessary for making a healthy and beautiful skin. For this reason, Paracram is invaluable for the treatment of skin troubles, such as dry eczema, Tetters, rough and scaly skin. It is unsuited for the treatment of Neuroalgia, Sore Muscles, and Rheumatism because it creates a normal activity in the pores of the skin, thereby stimulating the circulation and thereby removing all congestion. Paracram is a clean, invaluable household remedy—a remedy that every family needs every day in the year. Do not waste your money on cheap salves, liniments, witch hazel, vasoline, etc. Buy Paracram, the up-to-date perfect remedy. Sold only in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 bottles. Counterfeiters sell all dealers. The Paracram Co., Louisville, Ky., U. S. A.

Disgraceful.

Mrs. Tittle—Wasn't it disgraceful the way these women talked during the play last night? Mrs. Tittle—Well, I should say so. Sarah Snodkins was trying to tell me the fuss in the Brindes family, and those two women made such a clatter I couldn't hear more than half she said.—Boston Transcript.
